

PRESS RELEASE

OneVision to Showcase Automation Software at ISA Sign Expo 2025

Woburn, MA/Las Vegas, NV – OneVision, global leader in print automation software, announces its participation at the ISA Sign Expo 2025, taking place in Las Vegas from April 23-25. During the event, OneVision will showcase its innovative software solutions designed to streamline and automate wide format printing production processes.

OneVision's Wide Format Automation Suite offers a holistic approach to optimizing the entire production process. Whether for vehicle wraps, point-of-sales, branding, signage, banners, or other wide format print applications, OneVision's technology is built to drive greater efficiency, reduce errors, and enhance productivity. By automating tasks such as file preparation, handling, color management, and job tracking, OneVision enables print service providers to handle print jobs with ease. The middleware streamlines production from file input to press and finishing equipment, ensuring optimal substrate utilization through intelligent nesting, tiling, and cut-line management.

OneVision's "Stations" software takes automation a step further by integrating manual processes (e.g., sewing, drilling) and analog machines into digital workflows. This integration provides operators with clear, step-by-step instructions, reducing the risk of errors and improving overall efficiency. Real-time feedback and status updates ensure precise tracking, helping businesses meet service level agreements with greater consistency. The new "Workspace Production" feature dynamically groups and processes print jobs based on product and machine parameters, maximizing efficiency and machine utilization.

With these advanced automation tools, OneVision empowers print businesses to streamline operations, meet deadlines and drive profitability.
